Zelestra: Creating an e-invoicing system to comply with new Basque tax authority requirements

Spain-based global renewables company Zelestra specializes in the development, construction, commercialization, and operation of large-scale green-energy projects. So, when new legislation from the Basque government required digital sales transaction records to be provided to tax authorities, Zelestra needed an innovative e-document management system.

As part of a large-scale ERP transformation project, Zelestra looked to Avvale to develop a solution that would enable e-invoicing and e-reporting for each sale and integrate that data with tax authority systems. The result was a solution that could then be used by other Avvale customers across the region.
